

Journaling for Emotional Sobriety

Are you struggling with stress? Feeling emotionally dysregulated? If so, journaling has been recognized as a therapeutic way to deal with the stress and emotions of life. “Keeping a journal helps you create order when your world feels like it’s in chaos.” (Source: URM/Encyclopedia/Journaling for Mental Health).

During this workshop via Zoom, Lynne will teach you how to cope with stress using journaling tips and techniques found in the book, Maintaining Emotional Sobriety During COVID-19: Transforming Trauma into Post-Traumatic Growth by Tian Dayton, PhD. The discussion will include the benefits of daily journaling, an overview of emotional sobriety, a session of prompts, self-affirmations, reframing and more. Bring your favorite pen, journal or notebook and get ready to begin journaling your way to emotional sobriety.

“... participants responded to Lynne’s workshop with raving reviews. They loved the connection of childhood stressors being reflected into adulthood... Thank you for your generosity of sharing the knowledge.” - Emanuela DeCenso, Head of Adult Services, Farmington Community Library, Farmington, MI
